

Libbie A. DiMarco

Associate

617.646.8526

Elizabeth.DiMarco@WolfGreenfield.com

Libbie (Elizabeth) represents both plaintiffs and defendants in complex patent litigation. Libbie has litigated and advised clients in a wide range of technologies, including computer hardware and software, data storage devices, small electronic devices, medical devices, and chemical products and processes. Libbie has trial experience in multiple jurisdictions, including the District of Delaware, the Northern District of Illinois, the District of Massachusetts. She also litigates Section 337 Investigations before the International Trade Commission and handles intellectual property enforcement proceedings before the United States Customs and Border Protection.

After law school, Libbie clerked for the Honorable James Duggan of the New Hampshire Supreme Court until his retirement, and served under Chief Justice Linda Dalianis, Senior Associate Justice Gary Hicks, and Associate Justices Carol Ann Conboy and Robert J. Lynn on a rotating basis for the remainder of her clerkship term.

Activities

- Vice Chair of the AIPLA ITC Committee
- ITC Trial Lawyer's Association

Recognition

Libbie received the President's Volunteer Service Award in recognition of a significant commitment to volunteer work. In law school, she received the three-year Social Justice Scholarship for demonstrating a deep commitment to social justice.

Education

University of Rochester,
BS, Applied Mathematics,
cum laude, Certificate in Management Studies in Finance/Accounting

Northeastern University
School of Law, JD

Practice Groups

Litigation

Post-Grant Proceedings