Litigation

Scott Forman is based out of our New York office, and focuses his practice on patent and trademark litigation, as well as post-grant proceedings. He has significant experience in all stages of litigation including drafting pleadings, motions, working on fact and expert discovery and preparing pretrial filings. Scott's post-grant practice includes drafting briefs and working with expert witnesses in inter partes review proceedings.

Scott's litigation and post-grant experience includes a wide array of subject matters, including pharmaceuticals, semiconductors, microfluidics, chemical additives and Hatch-Waxman litigation. He also counsels clients on intellectual property and licensing matters.

Scott previously worked as a patent law intern at both Alzcor Pharmaceuticals and OSI Pharmaceuticals, where he performed freedom to operate searches for potential Alzheimer's treatments and analyzed patentability of drugs for licensing potential. At OSI Pharmaceuticals, he also worked as a chemistry intern, synthesizing small molecule organic compounds for potential use in cancer therapeutics. As an undergraduate, Scott performed synthetic inorganic chemistry research on heterobimetallic compounds for use in alternative energy applications. This research was published in the journal Inorganic Chemistry.

Prior to joining Wolf Greenfield, Scott was an associate at Kenyon & Kenyon LLP.
